

Minister's Son Perishes In Icy Mountain Chasm

SPRIT LAKE, Wash.—(AP)—Rescuers paused on a mountain path last night as a grief-stricken clergyman intoned the last rites of the church over the body of his son who died in an icy crevasse high on Mount St. Helens.

The youth, 20-year-old Arthur Jessett, slipped into the narrow chasm at the mountain's 8,000-foot level while on a climbing trip with three companions Sunday.

Slips Down Deeper
He lived a number of hours talking to his companions, as the slipping ice eased him deeper and deeper into the crevasse. Meanwhile, climbers fought frantically to rescue him.

Late yesterday, expert mountaineers were lowered 75 feet into the frigid tomb and recovered the young University of Washington student's body where it lay incased in ice.

The father, the Rev. Thomas E. Jessett, met the somber party as it descended through fog and rain to this mountain lake in southwest Washington.

He opened the Episcopal book of common prayer and read in a strained voice:

"Into Thy hands, O Merciful Savior, we commend the soul of this thy servant, now departed from the body."

Then the father dropped to his knees, faced the sky, and cried:

"My son! My son! My son!"

Raised By Ropes
He rose and shook hands with each of the eight ski patrolmen who had affected the near-impossible recovery.

Two of the rescuers, Jim and Louis Whittaker, twin brothers from Seattle, had been lowered by ropes into the crevasse to recover the body.

They said it was wedged tightly between the walls of ice. They said the crevasse opened wider beneath them. They could not see the bottom.

They had to cut the ice away from the body to free it. It was raised 75 feet to the rim of the crevasse by ropes.

Dr. Otto Trott, who was with the ski patrol party, said the boy had been dead about 12 hours. He died of exposure.

Coffee Sneaked Into Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany.—(AP)—A U. S. High Commission court granted permission today for prosecution depositions to be taken from executives of a Detroit department store about 120 pounds of coffee allegedly imported by American society matron Katherine G. Reed and sold in the West German black market for marks.

Mrs. Reed, 44, is accused of getting the tax-free coffee through Army mails on the Detroit charge account of her husband, Col. Allen W. Reed, former commandant of the Wiesbaden military post and now assistant chief of staff in the supply division of the U. S. 12th Air Force. She has pleaded innocent.

She faces trial July 7 at Wiesbaden on 16 charges of Black Market operations. These include the selling of coffee and military coupons for 1,800 gallons of gasoline, and transactions in greenback dollars, military scrip, and German marks.

The maximum penalty for conviction on all counts could be eight years imprisonment and 400 marks ($95.20) fine. Each count is punishable by six months in jail and 25 marks fine.

Pretty but indignant Mrs. Reed, a native of Mt. Clemens, Mich., pleaded innocent at her preliminary hearing May 6. Her counsel described her as the victim of "unfounded rumor and gossip."

One Dead, 85 Injured In Pusan POW Riots

PUSAN, Korea.—(AP)—Communists war prisoner rioting spread to a Pusan camp today and flared in two new but minor revolts at violence-ridden Kojie Island camp No. 1.

One Red POW was killed and 85 were injured at Pusan.

One American guard suffered a minor injury in the 2½ hour battle of clubs and fists in Pusan Camp No. 10. No shots were fired by the combat-wise United Nations guards, although they were armed.

On Kojie, it was disclosed that two mild revolts were settled without incident by the new camp commander, Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, during the first four days of his command.

These occurred while high-ranking officers of Gen. Mark Clark's Far East Command in Tokyo studied reports on February-March Kojie riots in which 90 Red male POWs and one American soldier were killed.

Work Resumed By 25,000 Oil Plant Strikers

DENVER — (AP)—An estimated 25,000 of the nation's nearly 90,000 striking oil workers were back on the job today, 21 days after they walked out in a wage dispute.

More are expected to return by nightfall as additional settlements are reached in plant-by-plant negotiations across the country.

Airlines Lose Business
Meanwhile airlines, both in the United States and Europe, were faced with loss of considerable revenue as the shortage of aviation gasoline grows.

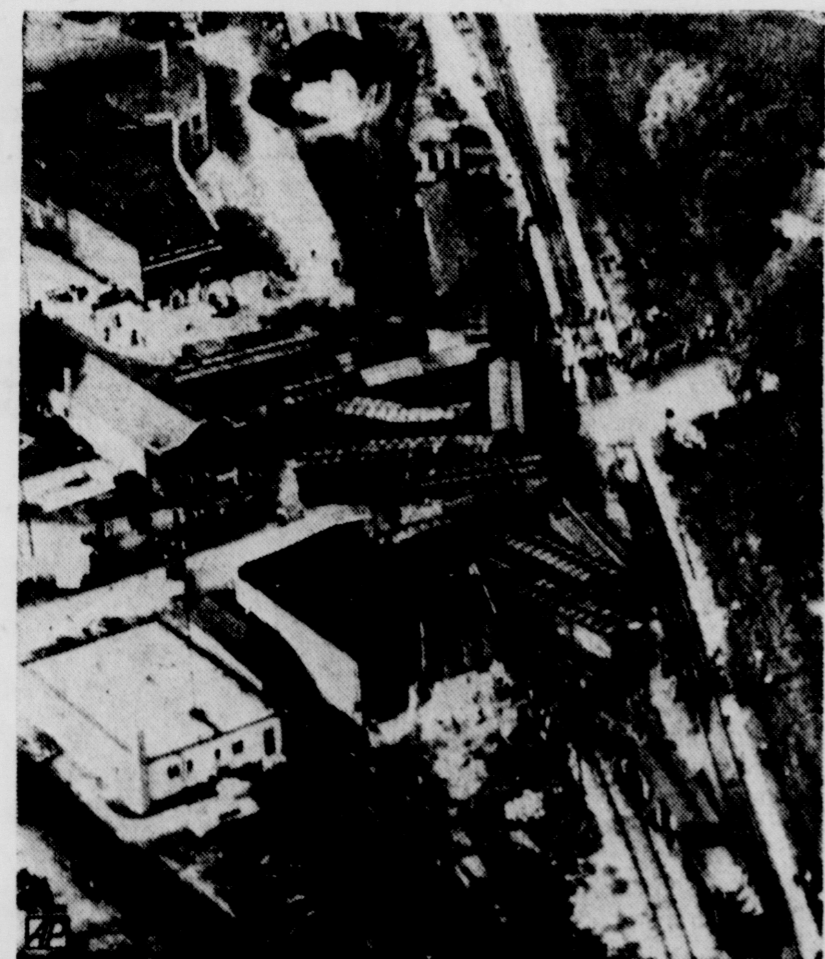

It is expected to reach the critical stage by next weekend unless additional supplies are obtained. Most lines were caught with short supplies when the strike hit. The big question is how fast refineries can start real production again.

A major break in the strike front was reached yesterday when 10,000 Sinclair Refining Company workers signed a wage agreement. But a dark spot cropped up in the Midwest.

A U. S. conciliation service spokesman said negotiations to end the strike of 7,000 workers at Standard Oil of Indiana's Refinery at Whiting, Ind., broke down last night. A similar situation was reported at the Cities Service Company Refinery in East Chicago where 800 are out.

Pay Raise Is Issue
At issue in the strike by 22 CIO, AFL and Independent unions, was an hourly wage increase plus increased night shift differentials. The unions originally demanded a 25-cent hourly boost on the average $2 to $2.10 hourly pay.

The Wage Stabilization Board last week recommended a wage increase of 15 cents per hour, effective May 1, with a little more than 9 cents retroactive to Jan. 1, plus an increase in extra pay for night work to 6 cents per hour from 4 for the evening trick and to 12 cents from 6 for the night shift.

TRAIN PILES UP IN SAWYER, MICH.—This is a general view of the scene at Sawyer, Mich., after 31 cars of a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train piled up in the center of the town, damaging several buildings. The train was derailed in a collision with a light truck whose three teen-aged occupants were seriously injured. The pileup shattered a lumber company warehouse (lower center) and rammed into the railroad station (upper center). (AP Wirephoto)

One of the minor new Kojie flareups involved the 400 women Prisoners Of War and civilian internees held on that island, 30 miles southwest of Pusan. The other was a sitdown strike by prisoner inmates of a U. N. Command hospital and their prisoner-doctors.

Boatner settled both with persuasion and firmness. There was no violence, no shots were fired, and no one was injured, he said.

At Seoul, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the U. S. Eighth Army, said the Pusan outbreak resulted from "an attempt by fanatical Communist Prisoners of War to resist proper medical treatment of patient inmates of Enclosure 10."

All the prisoners at Pusan previously were reported to have been screened. The Army said they professed opposition to Communism, and to repatriation to Red areas if a Korean truce is agreed upon.

Pro-Communist prisoners were kept on Kojie.

Today, the Army said Enclosure 10 is a mixed camp for both Communist prisoners who want to return behind the bamboo curtain and Anti-Communist prisoners who don't. It did not say whether the rioters were Chinese or North Koreans or both.

Potato Shortage Hot Debate Topic

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—This year's potato shortage seems to be providing just about as heated a debate on the federal farm programs as did the government project of killing little pigs to raise pork prices in the early 1930's.

Officials say there's considerable criticism of ceilings on potato prices and a lack of price supports. The pig-killing program raised such a furor that, every time meat has become scarce since then, the agriculture department has been flooded with an avalanche of mail harkening back to those days. That plan, sponsored by Henry A. Wallace, then the agriculture secretary, was designed to boost hog prices by reducing pork supplies.

Farmers Cut Acreage
The current potato shortage developed largely because farmers cut production 20 per cent last year. Most of this reduction came in the late potato crop—that portion which goes into storage for use during the winter, spring and early summer.

Farmers reduced their output after Congress directed the agriculture department to withdraw price supports. Congress did away with supports because they had cost the government more than 600 million dollars over a 10-year period.

Fearing a possible price collapse, farmers turned to more promising crops.

When it became apparent that stocks might not be large enough prices started moving upward. The Office of Price Stabilization stepped in with ceilings. But until corrected, inequities in ceilings as applied market by market served to divert supplies to some markets and away from others.

Southern Crops Late
The shortage has been aggravated by black markets which have given some consumers more than

British Awaiting Peiping Reaction

HONG KONG.—(AP)—British firms here waited today for Peiping reaction to Britain's announcement she no longer can do business inside Red China. Many believed the Communists would just ignore the note.

Most of the big firms privately expressed doubt the British note would change things much. They have been trying for some time to quit China and bring their foreigners out, but the Reds won't let them.

Even firms with large holdings in the Communist land want to quit. They are tired of remitting money to pay huge tax bills and payrolls for idle laborers. But they are afraid of what might happen to their foreign employees if they don't.

The British are not alone in this dilemma. American, French and a smattering of Swiss, German and Scandinavian companies have fragments left in China which they can't sell or give away because of foreign "hostages."

In some respects the British have been luckier than most, because their nationals have had less trouble with the Reds. A few American business men are in Chinese jails.

California Roosevelt
Supporting Kefauver
For Primary June 3

LOS ANGELES.—(AP)—James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late president, announces he is supporting Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee in the latter's campaign for Democratic Presidential nomination in California's June 3 primary.

Roosevelt was for President Truman until he said he would not be a candidate.

The former Truman delegation is now pledged nominally to State Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown of the Brown slate, Roosevelt said in a statement yesterday.

"Attempts have been made to credit the Brown delegation with having a monopoly on the 'best brains' in the Democratic party. Without passing judgment, I believe the Democrats can place at least equal reliance upon the integrity, honesty and ability of leaders of the Kefauver slate."

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, was among the high civilian and military officials greeting Ridgway at National airport. Bradley praised Ridgway for his "grand job" as U. N. commander in the Far East and said he was sure he would do just as well in the European command.

Ridgway promised to "do my level best."

Within an hour after arrival, Ridgway went to the White House accompanied by Bradley to pay his respects to the President.

Trip To West Point
Today, he had a chance for a long talk with Truman while making a one-day trip with the President to West Point for ceremonies in connection with the 150th anniversary of the military academy.

After that Ridgway faces this busy schedule this week:

1. A series of meetings with the joint chiefs of staff, the standing group and military representatives of NATO.

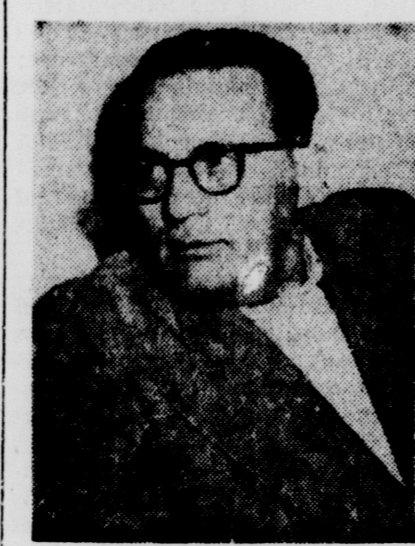

2. A reception by Bradley at his Fort Myer, Va., quarters, where Ridgway will meet the ambassadors of the 13 NATO nations, state and defense department leaders and military attaches of the treaty countries.

3. A news conference at the Pentagon on Wednesday.

4. An address to press clubs of the Capital at a Friday luncheon.

5. A two-day visit Saturday to U. N. headquarters in New York before heading for his command in Paris.

JAILED AGAIN — Frank M. Grandstaff of Ft. Wayne, Ind., sits in Milwaukee police station after being arrested for vagrancy. ## Labor Unions Study Proposed Rules Changes

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Three big railroad unions today studied a labor peace plan the White House hopes will end a three-year dispute on the nation's railroads.

The engineers, firemen and conductors, with a combined membership of more than 150,000, were handed the contract proposal by presidential assistant John R. Steelman yesterday afternoon. So were the railroads, and they accepted it quickly.

Pay Boost Included
The unions were set for all-day, separate sessions. But they agreed to act as one on final acceptance or rejection.

Steelman's proposal, submitted on a take-it-or-leave-it basis, would do these things:

1. Boost wages for men in yard service by 37 cents an hour, of which 12½ cents is already being paid.

2. Boost wages for men who work on the open road—that is, not in the yards—by 22½ cents an hour, five cents of which is already in effect.

3. Give the train unions substantially what they wanted on a highly controversial working or operating rule involving crews which take a train through a divisional point. A change in this rule demanded by the carriers was described by union officials as the major obstacle to settlement.

Union Demands Met
They said that if the carrier demand went into effect workers in many cases would have to travel twice as far and move their homes

Canadian Producers Increase Newsprint Price $10 June 15

TORONTO.—(AP)—Some of the Canadian producers of newsprint have decided to put into effect June 15 the $10-a-ton increase in the price of newsprint exported to the United States. Ordinarily, all the producers follow the lead of those first announcing.

Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Ltd., said it had advised its customers the increase would be made as of June 15. It was understood at least one other large Canadian company had given similar information to its American customers.

The increase brings the price delivered to New York to $126 a ton. Prices at other U. S. points vary by zones. The Canadian base price remains at $112 a ton plus sales tax.

Ridgway Gets Tips On How To Build Up His Army In Europe

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, a veteran leader of fighting troops in World War II and Korea, began today an intensive one-week course in how to build up and command a stand-by Allied army in Europe.

He will get advice from President Truman, military and diplomatic representatives of the United States and 13 other member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and United Nations officials.

Reports To Superiors
In this week, Ridgway also will tell Senators his plans for taking over as new supreme commander of NATO forces, the job Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is leaving to enter the Republican presidential nomination campaign.

Ridgway arrived here by plane last night and told reporters, "I have a very crowded week ahead." He said he would "report to my superiors and learn much of my new assignment in Europe."

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, was among the high civilian and military officials greeting Ridgway at National airport. Bradley praised Ridgway for his "grand job" as U. N. commander in the Far East and said he was sure he would do just as well in the European command.

Ridgway promised to "do my level best."

Senators Question Truman's Veracity In Speech To ADA

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Truman's truthfulness came under additional Senate fire today.

Senators Bridges (R-NH) and Capehart (R-Ind.) joined the chorus of Republicans and Democrats questioning the accuracy of statements Truman made in a political speech before the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) Saturday night.

Facts Ignored
Bridges, the Republican leader, said in a prepared Senate address that Truman's pronouncements are "losing their ring of truth."

Capehart accused the President of "a malicious untruth" in telling the ADA, self-styled liberal organization, that the Republican party wants to turn the country over to big business.

On the Senate floor yesterday Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) said Truman had not followed the facts in asserting that a bill passed by Congress to give the states title to the oil-rich submerged lands off their coasts is like "robbery in broad daylight."

"The President's statement on robbery is no more accurate than his statement on ownership of the submerged lands," Johnson declared. "Possibly if he had taken the time to look up the facts he would not have been so reckless in his language."

Johnson contended Truman's assertion that federal ownership of the lands had been affirmed by the supreme court was not an accurate statement of the facts.

Retraction Demanded
This Democratic criticism of Truman's veracity was more than matched by Sen. Herman Welker (R-Idaho). Welker accused the

Canned Foods Prices Go Up

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Prices in many grocery stores go up one to two cents a can today on some canned vegetables, fruits and juices. Housewives can expect increases soon on a large variety of other foods.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) said it was granting the higher prices on vegetables, fruits and juices to compensate wholesalers for "markedly lower earnings."

Under this order some canned corn, green beans, peas, tomatoes, tomato juice, canned fruit cocktail, pineapple, peaches and pears.

OPS said most independent stores will be affected but few chain stores will be, since they normally buy direct from producers rather than from wholesalers.

The agency said it may issue before the end of this month an order permitting retailers to increase their mark-ups on such foods as concentrated coffee, dry cereals, cookies and many canned meats. Canned tuna and salmon would be excepted.

This does not mean the retail ceilings of all canned goods will be upped, OPS said. Officials noted that some prices are already about as high as the public will pay.

Koje Island Murders Predicted By Pravda

MOSCOW.—(AP)—Pravda headlined today that the American military is "preparing new murders of war prisoners on Kojie Island."

The Soviet paper, organ of the Communist party, said the Americans have directed artillery at the Prisoner Of War camp and predicted new bloodshed there.

Pravda said there were about 800 women and some children in the camp.

Iron Land For Sale

LANSING.—(AP)—The conservation department will auction leases for iron-ore exploration on state owned lands at 10 a. m. June 6 at its headquarters here, it was announced today. Offered will be exploration rights on 1,142 acres in Baraga and Iron counties.

Senate Approval Of McGranery Expected Today

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) asking the Senate to reject James P. McGranery as attorney general, told his colleagues today they could have no confidence McGranery would "clean up" the Justice Department.

Ferguson was the lead-off speaker in Senate consideration of President Truman's nomination of McGranery, a Philadelphia judge, to head the scandal-scarred Justice Department.

Past Conduct Cited
Urging Senators to "judge him by the past—the conduct of the past—rather than the promises of the present," Ferguson said McGranery blocked a move "back in 1945 to clear out the corruption and the malfeasance" in the Justice Department.

He said his reference was to a New York grand jury's request to have special counsel appointed for an investigation of the U. S. attorney's office in its district.

McGranery, then assistant to the attorney general, advised the grand jury foreman that the department had turned down the request because it "would not overrule the considered judgement of the judges who have examined into the matter," Ferguson said.

"We'd have an entirely different atmosphere" in the Justice Department, Ferguson added, if McGranery had acted differently in 1945.

Democratic leader McFarland (Ariz.) said he hoped to get a vote before the day was over, and Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) predicted the Senate would confirm President Truman's nomination of the Philadelphia jurist.

The Senate judiciary committee, of which McCarran is chairman, voted 8 to 4 to recommend confirmation but a seething minority report was filed yesterday by Sens. Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Watkins (R-Utah).

Watkins, however, told a reporter he felt the administration probably had the votes to approve the nomination.

Wyandotte Cops Called Thieves

DETROIT.—(AP)—Members of the Wyandotte police force yesterday were accused of widespread thievery in a report submitted by Chief of Police Martin Lillenthal.

The nine page report stated that thefts by policemen have been common in the Detroit suburb since 1947.

Six police force members, including a sergeant with 21 years of service face action before the city police commission.

Five other officers were listed as suspects in the report submitted at the request of Mayor William F. Krieger.

Chief Lillenthal said instances of thefts by police force members had come to his attention in November of 1947. He said he prepared a report but was asked by the police commission to drop the investigation "to avoid unpleasant publicity."

The report submitted yesterday contained statements of 47 policemen.

Lillenthal said to policemen who confessed robbing stores they were assigned to protect have resigned. No charges have been placed against them.

Plan Survey On Parking Meters

The issue of parking meters was discussed pro and con and at length this morning by members of the retail committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

The secretary, Hugh Grow, was instructed to appoint a committee to conduct a survey to determine the public's reaction to parking meters. It was suggested that such a survey include the reaction of motorists in areas where parking meters have been in operation for some time, as well as the attitude of motorists in the Escanaba trading area. An appropriation of $50 for the survey was authorized.

Secretary Grow reported that the committee will consist of five retailers, comprising men who are in favor of parking meters, men who are opposed and men who are "on the fence". Grow reported that the committee would welcome written expressions of opinion on the issue from local motorists as well as motorists from surrounding communities who shop regularly in Escanaba. The retailers will meet again in two weeks to discuss the parking meter situation.

The parking meter issue was raised at the last meeting of the Escanaba City Council.

The retailers unanimously approved a resolution expressing opposition to the issuance of additional permits for carnivals to operate in Escanaba. It was pointed out that Skerbeck's Carnival in the spring and the carnival operating at the U. P. State Fair each year provide adequate entertainment of this nature for the community.

The retailers voted to close their stores at 5:30 p. m. Thursday, May 29, the day preceding the Memorial Day holiday.

State's Valuation Raised 850 Million By Tax Commission

LANSING — (AP) — A recommended increase of $850,000,000 in the state's equalized valuation — to a total of $13,634,300,000 was recommended by the state tax commission.

The state board of equalization will meet June 2 to hear protests from counties against their equalization by the state.

The equalized valuation of the counties is part of the basis for distributing state aid payments. It represents what the state thinks each county is worth, compared to its local assessment, and becomes the county tax base if fixed by the state after an appeal.

Chairman Louis M. Nims of the tax commission, said the $850,000,000 increase results from new property construction of $750,000,000 and $100,000,000 added in counties where equalization studies were made by the state in the past year.

Such studies now have been made in 65 counties. Following are the Upper Peninsula county equalizations for 1951 and those recommended for 1952, respectively:

Recommendation on construction of a lannon stone wall for the new water filtration plant.

Recommendation on a proposed community music shell location in Ludington Park. The Commission's architectural committee will report following its study.

University Offers 3-Year Graduate Journalism Work

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—The University of Michigan today announced a three-year graduate program in journalism.

"The program recognizes the coming of age of the profession of journalism and girds the intellectual resources of the university for the responsible functions of journalism in an increasingly complex and contracting world society," said Prof. Wesley H. Maurer, department chairman.

The program, covering both domestic and international journalism, will carry a master of arts degree for a two-year study, an additional year of internship on a domestic or foreign newspaper will offer a certificate of proficiency.

Prof. Maurer said the program was the climax of five years of experimental work to determine the best approach. It will extend the education of journalists from four to seven or eight years, depending on whether or not the student moves into the internship phase.

Internships have already been completed at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the Cleveland News and the Detroit Times, he said, and others are under way now in Tokyo, Santiago and Chile as well as the Detroit Free Press and the Port Huron Times-Herald.

Under the internship program students get practical training on papers.

Kiwanians Look Back 30 Years

Delegations from Iron Mountain and Marquette and representatives of Rotary and Lions clubs joined with the Escanaba Kiwanis Club last night in the observance of the 30th anniversary of the Escanaba Kiwanis organization. The event was a dinner program attended by a capacity crowd of Kiwanis members, wives and guests, held at the House of Ludington.

Rudolph Erickson, Escanaba Kiwanis club president, presided at the meeting, and the master of ceremonies was George Grenholm. John J. Bartella, charter member, outlined the history of the Escanaba club, formed in March of 1922, and he was presented with a Legion of Merit award in recognition of his record in the club. A gift was also presented to William J. Duchaine in tribute to his years of active service to the club. Mrs. Duchaine received a corsage. The Marquette delegation made formal presentation of the lieutenant governor's banner, emblematic of the home club of the present lieutenant governor of Kiwanis, Walter Dickson of Escanaba.

Claude O. Ebling, general agricultural agent of the Soo Line railway, known as the Soo Line farm magic philosopher, was the guest speaker on the program. He chose freedom as the theme of his talk, and illustrated his points with a fast series of sleight of hand tricks and illusions.

Dinner music was supplied by an orchestra led by Mrs. Clara Somers. Other program features were piano solos by Irma Paul, accordion selections by Sharon Collins, 10; and a clever monolog by Ann Krantz.

Airlines Revises Its Management

WASHINGTON — (AP) — John V. Weesner disclosed today that he and his father, Roscoe, have bought Col. Roscoe Turner's interest in Lake Central Airlines of Indianapolis.

Weesner made the announcement at a conference with a Civil Aeronautics board examiner considering the airline's fitness to operate.

The witness discussed a refinancing program designed, he said, to clear the line of $125,000 in debts, provide additional working capital and more aircraft to operate new routes the line is seeking.

Weesner said Col. Turner, who founded the line, has resigned as president of Lake Central, but will stay on as his assistant. John Weesner is the new president.

Col. Turner held 18,000 shares. The new acquisitions give the Weesners about 96 per cent ownership of the line. Weesner told a reporter the Colonels' shares were bought for $30,000.

The hearing was adjourned, subject to reopening only if CAB lawyers want to question company officials about financial data to be submitted.

Examiner R. Vernon Radcliffe held nine days of hearings in Indianapolis some time ago on board charges that John V. Weesner, his father, Roscoe, and other officials of Lake Central are involved in illegal interlocking directorates with other firms.

Extension Before Board
CAB enforcement lawyers contend these interlocking directorates and common control arrangements are unlawful because they have not been approved by the board.

But Lake Central argues that they are legal because an application for CAB approval has been on file since 1949.

Lake Central now operates through Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and into Louisville and Cincinnati. It has asked renewal of its permit and also for extensions of routes through Ohio and across the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and Lake Michigan to Detroit.

The Weesners, father and son, hold controlling interest in Lake Central through ownerships of Frontier Airmotive, Inc., a holding company. They also own Nationwide Air Transport Service, Inc., a holding company with minority interest in Resort Airlines, Inc., of Miami, Fla.

Nationwide Air Transport is owned by R. Paul Weesner, a brother of John; Paul's wife and Robert Goodman, vice president of Resort Airlines, Inc. Paul formerly was associated with his father and brother in Lake Central, Frontier Airmotive and Nationwide Airlines.

Other CAB charges against Lake Central include alleged failure to comply with certain account-keeping regulations and allegedly erroneous monthly and quarterly reports to the board.

No further discussion was scheduled for route extension proposals of Lake Central. These now are before the board. Radcliffe previously recommended that the Lake Central permit be extended for three years. The line is asking a five-year extension.

Over 50,000 Killed Or Hurt On Michigan Highways Last Year

LAST year over 50,000 persons were killed or injured in automobile accidents in Michigan, the highest total in the history of the state. There were 1640 persons killed and 48,418 persons injured in a total of 176,587 traffic accidents in this state last year.

There not only were more persons killed, more injured, and more accidents but there also were more licensed drivers in 1951, more auto registrations and more mileage traveled by automobile. If there is any redeeming feature about the traffic statistics for 1951, as compiled by the Michigan State Police, it is found in the fact that the death rate per 100 million vehicle miles showed a drop from 7.29 in 1950 to 6.98 in 1951.

The foreword to the report by Donald S. Leonard, State Police commissioner until recently when he resigned to become a candidate for governor, emphasizes that the increased traffic demands require greater safety effort on the part of individual drivers and pedestrians as well as by those delegated with special safety responsibilities. Only by this extra vigilance can there be any hope of reducing the frightening toll of highway accidents.

Fortunately, despite the state's adverse report, the traffic accident situation in Escanaba and in Delta County for 1951 was more favorable than in the preceding year. For the first time in five years, Escanaba did not have a fatal traffic accident. In Delta County, there were eight fatal accidents in 1951, compared with 13 the previous year.

It is interesting to note that fatal traffic accidents caused by drivers under the influence of liquor showed a startling reduction in 1951.

Questions and Answers

Q—What is the origin of the word "science"?

A—It is from sciens, Latin, meaning "to know."

Q—With what do you associate the name Daniel Beard?

A—Daniel Beard was the organizer of the Boy Scouts of America.

Q—Did Christopher Columbus ever land on any United States territory?

A—Puerto Rico is the only part of the United States where he ever set foot.

The Doctor Says . . .

Physical Examination Before Having Children Is Must for Couples Past-40

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Some problems are extraordinarily difficult to answer.

Q—My husband and I have been married less than a year and our ages are 50 and 39 respectively. We are both in a reasonably good health and would like to have a child.

Do you think we would be wrong in bringing a child into the world at this late time, or would you advise us to try adopting a child, or is there an age limit on this, too?—Mrs. Y.

A—Many couples of the ages given do have healthy children. The first step, from the medical standpoint, is for both husband and wife to be carefully examined to make sure that there is no physical reason why they should not have children.

In considering either a natural child or adoption, the home and prospects of the child should also be weighed. In other words, such things as the fact that the mother would be over 50 and the father over 60 when the child was 10 years old should be faced in advance.

All of these things should be frankly discussed by the couple themselves and with their doctor.

Q—I have been troubled with what has been diagnosed as pneumonitis. At first I had fever spells for several days, but for the past few years I have had fever only occasionally, but still feel weak and have a dull, aching pain in the upper part of my back. What could this be?—Mrs. O. W.

A—This is a rather unusual story. It suggests a chronic virus pneumonia or pneumonitis, and while often long-lasting, this is exceptionally long. It would seem that some active steps should be taken, such as a long period of rest in bed or possibly a change in climate, and the doctor should advise just what these steps should be.

Q—People say that sun-bathing is helpful for infectious, but if the sun shines tion in 1951. Only 3.8% of such accidents were caused by drunk drivers, compared with a five year average of 6%. As usual, excessive speed was the main cause of fatal accidents, 44% being blamed on this cause alone.

Court Decision Awaited On Steel Seizure

THE epic steel seizure case is now before the Supreme Court. It is hoped that our highest tribunal will make it plain whether or not the President has the extraordinary powers Mr. Truman has claimed and exercised—and, if so, just how extensive those powers are. Few acts of Mr. Truman's turbulent White House career have raised so much bitter dissension, and brought into being so many tremendous issues, as the seizure.

The arguments of the assistant attorney general who represented the government before Federal Judge Pine in the first test of the legality of the seizure were unprecedented. He said the President's powers are virtually unlimited, are not confined to those laid down in the Constitution and other written law, and that the courts have no right or authority to tamper with them. This obviously amazed the judge, who asked, "Do you mean that if the President empowered Mr. Sawyer to take you into custody, and execute you, you'd have no power to enjoin him?" The attorney had no answer for that one.

Judge Pine handed down a strong decision, which totally demolished the government's case, and ordered the return of the steel companies to their owners. Many people seem to believe that this decision was overruled by the Court of Appeals a few days later. That is not so. The higher court, by a 5-to-4 decision, simply delayed action until the Supreme Court could decide the vast Constitutional questions involved. It is considered significant that when the Supreme Court agreed to hear the case, it ordered that the government make no change in the conditions of employment of the steel workers. This was a hard blow to the steel union, which had confidently expected an immediate wage boost, and to the Administration as well.

The seizure further illustrates the fact that the Administration is in a state of vast confusion, and continues to come apart at the seams at a rapid rate. Economic mobilization Wilson immediately resigned. Wage Board chairman Feinsinger said that he had not recommended seizure—hitherto, most people thought he had. Economic Stabilizer Putnam and Price Administrator Arnall said they hadn't even been consulted. And Secretary Sawyer was reported as being unhappy in his position as czar of the steel industry.

In Congress, the President has been given almost no support. His most loyal followers have shown no disposition to get their own feet wet, and have dodged the issue. There was more talk of impeachment.

Much Congressional anger arose from the fact that the President refused to use the Taft-Hartley law in an effort to help settle the steel controversy even though that law, as amended, provides definite and specific machinery for taking care of just such situations with full protection to the rights and interests of management and labor alike. This, in view of many members of Congress, indicates that the law of the land means very little to the President—unless he happens to personally like the particular law involved.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The personal and political expenses of Democratic National Chairman Frank McKinney are causing a lot of backstage comment in top Democratic circles this week. They've also caused the resignation of the Democratic budget officer, William R. Bradley.

Bradley resigned with a coustic confidential letter calling attention to McKinney's personal expenses which include $750 to the Marian Service Co. of Miami, reportedly for handling his yacht; a total of $26,000 for his suite at the Mayflower Hotel plus other personal expenses between January 1 and April 7; and $2,175 paid to a photographer, P. H. Ho of Indianapolis, McKinney's home town, for "pictures of chairman."

The most amazing of McKinney's political expenses is $40,000 which was dumped into Cook County, Ill., to try to cut down the vote for Sen. Estes Kefauver during the recent Illinois primary. Use of national committee funds against any Democratic candidate in a primary election is strictly against all the political rules, and, as a result, non-partisan members of the Democratic national committee are boiling mad.

ITEMIZED EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Bradley also sent a letter to two top Democrats, Jonathan Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., and Molly O'Riordan of Boston, itemizing the chairman's extravaganzas. These included personal expense checks paid to McKinney for $3,000 each on Jan. 1, Feb. 2, and March 24, plus $1,720.75 on March 25, the latter credited as "Expense acct.—Florida." This was in addition to the $750 to the Marian Service Co. of Miami, reportedly for handling the McKinney yacht.

McKinney's total for expenses up to March 25 was listed as $10,578.93. This, however, did not include his bills at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, which added another $15,591.65 and brought the total up to $26,000 for three months only. However, this also covers the expense of Judge Joseph Howard, assistant to McKinney, who shares the same apartment.

In fairness to McKinney, it should be noted that he has not received a salary from the committee. However, the $35,000 salary of his predecessor, Bill Boyle, cost the Democrats less than the $100,000 annual scale of living to which the new chairman so far has been accustomed.

Bradley, who has been budget and controls officer under three previous Democratic chairmen, also had some critical things to say about Jackson-Jefferson Day dinners. This column has been able to obtain a copy of his confidential letter, dated May 13, to Chairman McKinney. Salient portions follow:

BRADLEY'S LETTER

"Since January 1, and as of April 30, 1952, your office has exceeded its budget by the amount of $18,912.90. This has been occasioned by your employment of more 'assistants to the chairman' than were provided for in the budget, and at a higher scale of salaries, and the extraordinary liberality of the expense allowances granted them," Bradley told McKinney.

"I do not know the source of the information on which you based your public statement that 'The 1952 dinner was the most successful ever held,' the budget officer continued, "but it was completely erroneous. The records of the comptroller's office could have provided the correct figures, had they been consulted. The 1950 dinner, held in the Armory, under comparable cost conditions, produced the following result: Total receipts—$581,543.00. Total costs—$120,872.66. Net receipts—$460,670.34."

"A notable example of the need for the establishment of controls is the recently held Washington Jefferson-Jackson dinner. In spite of the fact that the total receipts for the dinner $422,046.00—including pledges) were far below expectation, the committee could have saved approximately $50,000.00 by the application of reasonable controls over spending and waste."

"For example, we paid for 5390 dinners, yet we received contributions, including pledges, covering only 4,220 dinners—in other words, we fed 1,170 free-loaders, at committee expense. Perhaps 200 of these tickets were given to the staff and official guests—but what happened to the other 970? I do not think your records will disclose the names of the persons who received these free tickets—and yet, each ticket had a potential value of $100.00. The proper control of such an operation is exceedingly simple—immensely important. Some two months before the dinner, I made this suggestion to Judge Howard again during your absence. I quote his reply: 'Since Wash Williams is dinner chairman, suppose we let him run it.'"

Bearded Vinoba, Friend Of The Peasants, Is India's New Gandhi

By TOM A. CULLEN

NEA Special Correspondent

NEW DELHI, India—(NEA)—Mohandas K. Gandhi once summed up India's No. 1 problem this way: "Even God dare not appear before a hungry man except in the form of bread."

Today, a man who is popularly acclaimed as Gandhi's successor is showing his face to more and more of India's hungry men. He dares face them because he comes with leaves in the form of land acres that he has been able to wheedle from hard-headed landlords.

He is 57-year-old Acharya Vinoba Bhave, popularly known as Vinoba, and the face he presents to the needy is the lean, bearded face of an ascetic.

His rise as a religious and social leader has been as spectacular as the achievements of his Bhodan Yagna, or "land gift" movement, as he calls it.

During the past year Vinoba has:

Persuaded landlords to part with 100,000 acres of land, most of it in central India, to be distributed among landless peasants. Travelled over 1000 miles on foot, going from village to village, in his quest for land donations.

Set a goal of 2,500,000 acres to be collected within the next two years by himself and his co-workers.

"I want to check one revolution and I want to bring about another revolution," explains the reformer.

Until Gandhi's assassination in 1948, Vinoba was unknown in India except to the Mahatma and to a few members of the religious communities which Gandhi founded. His entry into public notice was a dramatic one.

In the stunned silence that followed Gandhi's death, Vinoba suddenly appeared in Delhi and began preaching. The spot he chose for his prayer meetings was the spot where Gandhi's body had been cremated, and he attracted tens of thousands seeking solace for what to them was a personal bereavement. From then on his role seemed cut out.

The "land gift" idea came to him last year on a walking tour to Hyderabad. There, peasants in 2000 villages under Communist leadership had seized the lands, kicked out the landlords and set up their own People's Committees. It took an army of special police over a year to subdue the rebellion.

"I realized then," Vinoba recalls, "that the mal-distribution of land was the cancer eating at the heart of India."

On this tour Vinoba was approached by a group of "untouchables" with the request for land. He mentioned this at a prayer meeting, was amazed when a land holder promptly offered 100 acres. He repeated the experiment at other meetings with the same success, and he has been repeating it ever since.

Work stops in the villages when word spreads that his arrival is imminent, and old and young flock to meet him on the road. Peasant women, ordinarily shy, stoop and touch Vinoba's feet.

What the villagers see is a striking physical likeness to Gandhi, save for the wispy beard. Vinoba is even thinner than Gandhi, and like him, he wears nothing more than steel-rimmed spectacles and a loin cloth, supporting himself with a walking stick.

His personal regime is severe. Arising at 4 a. m., he first holds a prayer meeting, then breaks his fast with a little fruit juice followed by a bowl of curds sweetened with honey. Because of an ulcer, he can take no solid food.

At 5 a. m. he is ready to hit the road, his way lighted by a hurricane lamp. Usually he arrives at his village destination about four hours later, followed by two secretaries and an entourage of about a dozen persons.

Once arrived, Vinoba's procedure is to select a tree, usually a mango, for shade and to start preaching.

"All people are children of the soil," he will begin, "and it should belong to them just as a mother belongs to her children."

Then he will ask land holders to consider him as a fifth son, and to give him his share of their property for the benefit of the poor.

Landlords listen at first with misgivings. By the time Vinoba has finished talking, catching fire from his words, they are often clamoring for his attention with their offerings of land.

"It's real weird," says one American businessman in New Delhi, who has followed Vinoba's progress, "and it could happen only in India."

The going is not always so easy. In some provinces Vinoba's words have fallen upon ears as stony as the soil. His most spectacular success has been in the central province of Uttar Pradesh, where most of the 100,000 acres were collected.

"I am only an instrument in the hands of God," Vinoba recently told a prayer audience. "How otherwise can people who fight even for a foot of land be inspired to give hundreds of acres freely?"

Dr. Lee DeForest (the inventor of the radio) could redeem himself if he would produce another great invention. That is the push-out button by which we could transmit our emotions instantly back to the broadcaster.—Ex-President Herbert Hoover.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE BACKGROUND—At Fayette over the weekend for a try at perch we found the harbor unusually peaceful and the perch inclined to shyness.

On the way down we stopped at Van's Harbor near Garden to inquire about the fishing there and talked with Miss Irene Brown, who reported the perch run appeared to be over for this spring.

Bait—both minnows and worms—was scarce but she gave us some worms and her blessing and we went on to Fayette.

Although fishing was the objective, thoughts about the history of the Garden Peninsula kept running through our mind. Here is a picturesque peninsula whose settlement dates back more than 100 years.

PLANNING A BOOM—R. A. Brotherton of Negaunee, formerly of Escanaba, long interested in the history of the Upper Peninsula, has written extensively of the Garden Peninsula and its background.

His father, the late Frank Brotherton, was one of the planners of the boom years when Fayette was a thriving community founded by the Jackson Iron Company. Two smelters, charcoal kilns, stores and shops and a hotel were located there.

There was even a railroad for the Peninsula that today has no rail line. The Jackson Iron Company's rolling stock included two locomotives, the "A. V. White" and the "J. B. Hicks."

The background for the Fayette boom was written in pencil in camp near Masonville on March 12, 1864, by Albert Kidder, member of a survey party of which Frank Brotherton was a member.

FAYETTE BROWN, ESQ.—The report was addressed to Fayette Brown, Esq., official of the Jackson Iron Company, who had employed the men to survey the Garden Peninsula and other areas of the U. P. to determine the extent of hardwood timber stands. Hardwood was essential for making charcoal, and the charcoal was used in smelting iron ore.

"Dear Sir: 'Mr. Bridges, Mr. Brotherton, and myself have explored quite carefully the Peninsula between Big Bay de Noc and Lk. Michigan.

"We found all the hardwood in bodies large enough to be of consequence in town 38 north, range 19 west, and 39 north, range 19 west. Maps of which I have drawn off with the hardwoods marked, and remarks about the sites for furnaces in each. The river running into Garden Bay is a very small stream through cedar swamp, and is quite worthless as a water power, in summer is said to be nearly dry and even at this season it is no more than a good size brook. Then the hardwood has been nearly all taken up in this vicinity. There appears to be no good stream on the Peninsula of importance.

"I have only marked that timber first rate, which I know to be so. I have no doubt but that running out the section into 40's (which would of course take more time) more could be found here and there.

"We were told immediately on our arrival at Mr. Bailey's (where we went on the day following that on which you left us) where the large bodies of hardwood laid and so were enabled to camp at once in a central spot from which we soon ran the sections out."

RISE AND FALL—The Jackson Iron Company selected Snail Shell Harbor for its furnace site, named the town Fayette, and built a furnace there in 1867.

Several of the "big names" at Fayette are still to be found in Delta county. J. B. Kitchen was superintendent there, John M. Perkins was the storekeeper, Henry J. Bebeau was in charge of supplying coal-wood and charcoal, and Joe DeVet was responsible for measuring and cutting cord-wood in the woods.

The fortunes of Fayette rose (a second smelter was built) and then declined. By the 1880's the once-thriving community had started to take on its present characteristics of "ghost town."

While we sat fishing for perch with little success we thought about these things of the past. Then we came to attention when some Marquette people with a seine and the assistance of Les Groll of Fairport caught some minnows for bait. We helped too and were rewarded with minnows to replace the worms we had used so unsuccessfully.

But Les Groll took his minnows and said goodbye. The Fayette perch fishing does not appear to him at this time of year. He was on his way to Seney after brook trout.

READERS ASK QUESTIONS

O. A. G., Washington, P.—It is equally correct to say, "He lit a cigar," or, "He lighted a cigar." Formerly, many grammarians frowned upon "lit" as a past tense or past participle of "light," but it is now generally conceded that either may be used. Some persons prefer to use "lit" in the past tense—"He lit a cigar"—and "lighted" as a past participle—"He had lighted a cigar." That is largely a matter of personal preference, however.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—"I have been told that in the salutation of a letter to a doctor, his title should not be capitalized; that is, one should write, 'Dear doctor Jones,' not 'Dear Doctor Jones.' Is that correct?—Miss H. E.

Answer—That does not conform with social custom. Preferably one should write, "Dear Doctor Jones" (or "Dear Dr. Jones"). But if the name were omitted, it would be preferable to make the salutation, "Dear Doctor."

H. H. J., Spring Valley, Ill.—A letter addressed to a married woman, whether a widow or not, carries her husband's name or initials; that is, for example, it is addressed to Mrs. John Doe. If she has been divorced, however, her maiden name should be addressed to, say, Mrs. maiden name Doe. But in any case, in connection with business or legal matters conducted in her own name, letters addressed to her should use her Christian name, Mrs. Mary Doe.

A Creed For Free Enterprise

By Clarence B. Randall

Business Men Should Participate in Government In a New Tradition of Public Service

This is the sixth of twelve Atlantic Monthly Press - Little Brown & Co. book, "A Creed for Free Enterprise," by Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Co.

VI—The Business Man and the Government

One problem that as business men we have been loath to share is that of government. At every echelon, from the ward and precinct in which we live up through Congress and the foreign service, we have been inclined to leave the job of government to others, though reserving to the full our right to criticize, and to assume that somewhere there is a great leisure group of able men who can and will do these things for the love of them.

We have raised ridicule of office holders to a fine art, and have demanded in no uncertain terms that there be more government for the people, but have laid less emphasis on the fact that government is also supposed to be by the people, and that we are people.

I have not been without some small reputation myself in the matter of denunciation of public officials, and I retract no single word. For a generation business has tried to live and to make progress under a barrage of abuse and misrepresentation from those who have been elected to high office—so violent and so continuous that historians may wonder how free enterprise survived at all.

Proofs of Vitality

Perhaps there could be no stronger proof of its essential vitality than the fact that we still have it. The big guns of government have been trained against us at all times, using our money to supply the ammunition, and attack has followed attack in successive waves—at all times, that is, except when government has needed us badly.

The people have been told, for example, that big business is bad, and particularly that it stifles small business, in spite of the fact that never in our history have so many new and successful small enterprises been begun as in the past ten years. But whenever a big job has needed doing, the government has invariably turned to big business with the desperation of urgent need, and been grateful that great resources and vast facilities created by private industry could be made available immediately. Russia has had to build hers the hard way: ours were ready.

You can't build a battleship in a neighborhood machine shop, or ask a popcorn vender to roll a hundred thousand tons of ship plates a month. Likewise, when national defense has brought into being a job so exacting in its requirements of knowledge and background, and breasting in its responsibility that not even the hardest of politicians has dared tackle it, government has turned to business for the leadership. Such fitness is acquired only by a lifetime of experience with comparable problems, and cannot be improvised by a country school teacher or even a labor leader, no matter how able or how devoted to the public service.

Something Should Be Done

But these are exceptional cases, and direct participation by businessmen in public administration is at a low ebb. Whether it is more because government doesn't ask us until they are in desperate straits or because we look out the window and ignore the call to duty I am not clear, but certain it is that the result is unwholesome for both business and the public, and that something should be done about it. One of our nation's greatest reserves of manpower in terms of creative leadership is not being fully employed for the common good.

We need a new tradition of public service, a new habit of mind by which businessmen actively seek participation in public affairs at every level. Like charity, this should begin at home. Each one of us lives somewhere, and whether that be a city apartment, a suburban house, or a farm in the country we receive constantly the benefit of public services for which some elected official must in a democracy assume the responsibility.

Why should someone else invariably do those things for us? Is our production job more important than maintaining the very fabric of democracy that permits it to exist? Is it fair to bewail the venality of weak men who corrupt offices of public trust which we abandon to them by our own default? Actually, of course, we should begin as young men, doing such essential jobs as precinct worker and watcher at the polls, and then keeping our part-time service in parallel with our business advancement by serving as members of school and park boards or city councils, until we serve terms in our state Legislature or Congress, or take occasional appointments in Washington.

Should Be Encouraged

Every business institution that believes in the preservation of free enterprise should make this possible, and encourage us to do so.

We will be better men when we return, and the business will have a stronger team in that substitutes will be trained and tested in our absence. Nor am I concerned at what this will cost in money, since the unbelievable cost of letting others do these jobs for us has already been fully demonstrated.

The Federal Government is continuously in urgent need of competent staff. We can no longer usefully debate whether the United States should have a compelling and demanding position of leadership in the free world: we have it, and there will be no drawing back in this generation.

The proliferation of government agencies is beyond numbering, and whether we like them or whether we don't, there they are. It is our money that is being spent. There is no reservoir of talent upon which to draw to staff these agencies because the United States has had no tradition of public service as a career, and many a harassed official is carrying on with a mediocre staff because he can get no better. He has to make do with what he has, and gets little help from us even in the wise spending of the money which our elected representatives have voted to him.

A Lend-Lease of Talent

Lend-lease of talent is the answer. I hold the earnest belief that it is a proper function for business to supply staff to government on a term basis, and that this is a proper charge against our cost of production. If the job is badly done, and our management brains and skill can help to do it better, everyone gains.

Take our junior executives, for example. Over the long pull, wouldn't it be a fine thing if every young man with a future, and we all know who some of them are in our companies, should go to Washington for two years and take a government job, either here or abroad? They serve in war, why not in peace, only here they would have our full financial backing.

If they are half as good as we think they are they might collectively save us more money in two years of service with the government than they possibly could by staying at their desks in our plants and offices. Government would steadily receive a new transfusion of blood and at the same time meet its huge staff deficit, to say nothing of the general increase in mutual understanding that would be brought about.

One further and unrelated word needs to be said before leaving the subject of the businessman viv-a-vis government, and that is simply this, we deny our heritage and jeopardize free enterprise when we ask special consideration for our own industry or our own company.

If we seek to keep government out of business we must not ourselves invite it in. Take all sorts of subsidy, for example. The crudest form of this is merely to ask Uncle Sam to provide the capital which we have not been able to raise from private sources, to let him build the plants which we will operate for private gain.

Tomorrow: "Self Interest."

The chorus will sing for the District Convention of the Federation of Women's Club to be held in Escanaba next September and rehearsals on music for that program are beginning now.

Forty-two members of the Orpheus journeyed to Powers last week and presented a complete concert for Pinecrest Sanatorium patients. Mrs. Clarence Moore and Mrs. F. M. Fernstrom were accompanists. Soloists were Mrs. Barbara Seymour, Mrs. Ann Hemes, Mrs. Claude LeClerc, and Miss Barbara Umland.

Labor Peace Plan Outlined To End Railroad Dispute

The carriers had wanted any disputes over interdivisional runs automatically submitted to binding arbitration. But the Steelman proposal does not include a provision to that effect and substantially meets union demands.

4. Lay the groundwork for a five-day, 40-hour work week for men in the yards who now work 48 hours. The 40-hour week would take effect on three-months' application by the unions provided a neutral referee appointed by President Truman decided enough manpower was available to meet management requirements.

A four-cent pay boost would go to all men switching from a 48 to a 40-hour week when the change was made. This four cents would come on top of the basic 37-cent wage boost for all yardmen.

5. Put into effect a cost-of-living escalator clause, tying wages to the cost of living. Wages would go up or down one cent each three months for each one point change in the Bureau of Labor statistics cost-of-living index.

6. Submit to binding arbitration any disputes over the following two operating rules: The rule governing pay for men on a train which is assigned more than one type of work at the same time; and the rule under which a railroad may extend its switching limits.

7. Give the unions substantially, but not quite, all they wanted on a rule governing pay for workers told to report late for work because their trains are late. This is called the reporting-for-duty rule.

Recall Petition—Members of the Baldwin Township school board at Perkins involved in recall petitions, have reported that the number of signatures on the recall petitions does not exceed the largest vote for a winning candidate in the Baldwin Township school elections. The item in Monday's issue of the Press unintentionally referred to the Brampton Township elections. This was erroneous as the reference should have been to Baldwin Township school elections.

Western Union Offers 7 Cents

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Western Union Telegraph Company today offered an average seven cents-an-hour wage boost in an attempt to settle a strike of 31,000 telegraph workers.

A company official said, however, the offer was contingent on government approval of an increase in telegraph rates which would add $7,700,000 a year to company revenues.

That's the amount the wage increase would cost, an official told a reporter.

The strike was called April 3 by the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union.

The average seven-cent boost would do these things:

1. Offset the loss in pay which would be suffered when employees now working 48 hours a week go on a 40-hour week.
2. Offset the loss which workers would suffer through company insistence on cutting out time—and one-half pay for work on Saturdays and double pay for work on Sundays.

The company offer also would be effective only if the union agreed to dropping the overtime weekend pay provisions and some other provisions in the expired contract such as the union shop.

There was no immediate indication of union acceptance of the company proposal. The union's most recent demand was reinstatement of the expired contract, including extra pay for weekend work and the union shop, plus an average 18-cent an hour wage boost.

Four Communist Jets Shot Down

SEOUL, Korea—(P)—U. S. Sabre jet pilots reported they shot down four Communist jets over northwest Korea today. The air battle near the Manchurian border produced America's 16th jet ace.

A U. S. Fifth Air Force announcement said the new kills raised total destruction of Russian-built Migs in the Korean war to 302.

Col. Harrison R. Thyng of Pittsfield, N. H., commander of the Fourth fighter-interceptor wing, got his jet ace rating in the fight near the Ralu River.

Allied air losses, if any are announced weekly.

The Air Force confirmed that U. S. Sabre pilots on May 4 destroyed five Communist propeller type fighter planes on Sinuiju airfield. This is in extreme north-west Korea on the bank of the Yalu.

Eight Japan-based B-29s Monday night bombed the Suncheon rail bypass bridge across the Taedong River northeast of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital. The Air Force said pilots reported moderate anti-aircraft fire.

Senators Question Truman's Veracity

President of making an "utter falsehood" in naming him as one of a group of Senate GOP members who criticized Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) for defending some administration foreign policy decisions.

Truman told the ADA that Wiley had been jeered and sneered at by his Republican colleagues for saying there were some foreign policy actions of which every American could be proud.

The President named Welker, Bridges and five other Senators as having joined in this castigation.

"If the President had used half-common sense or his ghost writers had checked the congressional record, they would have found I did not take part," Welker declared.

Welker said he had written Truman demanding a retraction and was going to answer "whenever the President of the United States stoops so low as to use my name in utter falsehood."

Potato Shortage Hot Debate Topic

Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall urged yesterday that the public fight against black marketing by refusing to pay more than ceiling prices.

Arnall predicted the shortage would be relieved in the next four to six weeks by the movement of new potatoes to market. This early crop is grown mostly in Florida, Alabama, Texas and California.

But the shortage is not likely to be fully overcome until the intermediate crop is harvested. This is grown in midland states—the Carolinas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas, Maryland and New Jersey.

Both the early and intermediate crops this year are later than usual—a fact that is prolonging the shortage. Weather conditions and desire of growers to let their potatoes grow to full size are factors delaying marketings.

Nevertheless, agriculture officials expect ample supplies by mid-June—and possibly lower prices.

The big question yet to be answered is this: Will the 1952 late crop be short again and cause a similar situation a year from now? Preliminary surveys indicate farmers may plant slightly less land to potatoes this year than last year because of opposition to ceiling prices.

Men To Occupy New Dormitory At MSC
EAST LANSING—(P)—Michigan State College's recently announced $5,000,000 women's dormitory will house men students instead, the State Board of Agriculture decided.

Present men's dormitories will be converted to co-ed use, the board said. The isolated location of the proposed new dormitory was given as the reason for changing it to a men's lodging place.

Insane Jackson Convicts Moved

LANSING—(P)—At the request of Governor Williams, the State Mental Health Department is preparing to remove some of the insane convicts from Southern Michigan prison where they recently fanned a destructive riot.

Williams asked the department to take as many as possible of 132 "definitely psychotic" inmates to the Ionia Hospital for the Criminal Insane.

He also asked the department to make a study of the proper disposition of "several hundred" other mentally deranged convicts who are not definitely insane. He said he assumed a separate institution would be required for them eventually.

Investigators have contended that several leaders of the $1,000,000 prison riot were insane and that one of the causes of the prison mutiny was the mingling of sane and mentally ill inmates.

Charles A. Wagg, mental health director, said Ionia, already overcrowded, could take insane convicts from Jackson only by moving patients to other mental hospitals.

"We are limited to moving from Ionia patients who are legally available for transfer and men who can be handled in a more open type of hospital," Wagg said. "I have moved six so far in anticipation of this request and am working on 10 more, but it is a slow process. I don't know how many we can take eventually."

Communists Have Flopped In Korea, Truman Declares

By ED CREAGH
WEST POINT, N. Y. — (P) — President Truman said today the Kremlin's desire to dominate the world is obviously unchanged, "But I believe we are well on the way to preserving our freedom without paying the frightful cost of world war."

"The plain fact is," Truman said, "that the Communists have utterly failed in their objectives in Korea."

"The Communist aggression failed to shatter the United Nations. Instead, the Communist attack has made the United Nations stronger and more vigorous and has demonstrated that it can and will act to defend freedom in the world."

He added:

Ready For Treachery
But we must also be alert and ready to meet treachery or a renewal of aggression if that should come."

If it should come, the President said, the Communists will run against a solid wall of free world resistance—with the growing might of this country and its new atomic weapons in the key defense position.

Truman's speech was prepared for the 150th anniversary convention of the U. S. Military Academy. The President came here by train to deliver it in the role of Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces.

board said. The isolated location of the proposed new dormitory was given as the reason for changing it to a men's lodging place.

Communists Have Flopped In Korea, Truman Declares

This role, providing civilian control over the military, is "nailed down" in the constitution, Truman noted. And—in what could have been an allusion to such step as his dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur—he went on to say:

"Many presidents, including the present one, have demonstrated that those words in the Constitution mean what they say."

No Human Slavery
Fresh from a conference with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who called at the White House soon after flying into Washington from Tokyo on his way to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as supreme commander in Europe, Truman spoke at unusual length about the Korean truce negotiations.

He declared as firmly as ever that this country will not accept the Red demand for repatriation of all captured Communist soldiers whether they want to be repatriated or not.

"It would be a betrayal of the ideals of freedom and justice for which we are fighting," the President said, "if we forced these men at bayonet point to return to their ex-masters."

"We won't do it."

"We won't buy an armistice by trafficking in human slavery."

Truman said it may not be known for some time whether the Communists will back down on this demand—an apparent indication that he does not expect the truce negotiations to break off in the near future. Then he added:

"We shall remain ready to reach honorable settlements by peaceful means."

Truman said the Reds have built up their strength in men, tanks and planes since the truce talks began almost a year ago. But this country, too, has consolidated and increased its strength. He said. And with American rearmament booming and anti-Communist forces growing stronger in both Europe and Asia, he said, there is a generally improved situation in the world.

Budget Cuts Denounced
Truman cautioned against any relaxing or letting up in the western defense effort. Likewise he denounced—as he has repeatedly in recent weeks—the threats in Congress to cut his military and foreign aid budgets.

While the free world is well on the way to preserving its freedom without a world war, he said, "no one should assume that the possibility of war has become remote."

The free nations, Truman said, must work for peace "in the face of a concerted campaign of threats and sabotage and outright aggression directed by the Soviet Union," which makes the situation of the rest of the world "dangerous in the extreme."

He spoke of this country's atomic weapons in grimly simple terms:

"An atomic artillery piece has been developed and tested and will have to be reckoned with in the future. The Navy is working on its first atomic powered submarine. Our overall atomic production program is in excellent shape."

Asserting that the Reds in Korea have been driven back into their own territory and that all the Soviet satellites have been given "a terrible warning" of the cost of aggression, Truman declared:

"As a result of Korea, the Kremlin knows that free men will stand up and fight x x x and, as a result of Korea, the free countries are infinitely better prepared than they were two years ago."

AS WE LIVE

There Are Times When Remarriage Is Justified

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
Most thoughtful Americans oppose divorce and remarriage, either on religious or moral grounds, or both. But, there are times when both divorce and remarriage are justified, and the following are some of them.

(Q) "Because of my wife's repeated infidelity, I obtained an absolute divorce from her and the custody of our three sons, ranging in age from 6 to 12 years. For the past two years, things have been pretty rough. I tried every way to keep my home and boys together but after school ended last year, I knew I couldn't do it any longer. So I found a good boarding home with a family atmosphere for the boys and sold my home and furnishings. It was like cutting off my right arm. Because I was unable to keep my home and family together, I have a strong inferiority complex which keeps me from going out. How can I overcome this?"

(A) Your inability to keep your home and family together was not your fault. The blame rests solely on your wife's shoulders. You did all you could but sometimes circumstances make failure inevitable.

Any one who knew the circumstances would certainly feel only pity, not reproach, for you. The very fact that the court granted you an absolute divorce and the custody of all your children shows that you were blameless in this affair. That should conquer your feeling of inadequacy as a husband and father.

Of course you could not take care of your business and run a home too. No man or woman can do both jobs of such magnitude. You were wise to give your sons a home, even with outsiders. But, this arrangement should be only an emergency one. For the sake of your children, you should re-establish a home for them as soon as possible. And, the only way to do this is to remarry. Regardless of your moral and religious beliefs, circumstances justify a remarriage. Even your strictest critics could not feel that it was wrong when the lives of three young children, who are victims of their mother's behavior, are involved.

You minister should be of great help to you in meeting women of the right kind who would welcome the opportunity to give your sons what they are now deprived of, a home and mother love. Discuss this matter with him and ask his help.

Dr. Hurlock will help you with family problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

City Elections Topic At Meeting Of Women's League

Election procedures in Escanaba were explained by Mrs. Guy W. Knutson at last evening's meeting of the League of Women Voters held at Carnegie Public Library.

Mrs. Knutson displayed a map showing the present precincts and where a new one may be formed. She reported on qualifications of a voter, the mechanics of running an election, that local elections are non-partisan and that candidates are elected by a majority.

Particularly interesting was the fact that there are 7,500 registered voters in Escanaba and that 4,000 voted in the last city election.

A spirited discussion on voting in general followed. Mrs. Knutson's talk and many questions were brought up and noted for future inquiry.

Mrs. Oliver Fuller, League president, reported on the last board meeting and read the national platform of the League.

Ann Arbor Line Has More Water Than Land Miles In Its System

The Ann Arbor Railroad company, which has more route miles over water than land, is the subject of an article recently printed in Railway Age.

The Ann Arbor firm operates car ferry service between Manistique and Frankfort and owns the Manistique and Lake Superior line which runs from Manistique to Shingleton to connect with the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic and the Lake Superior and Ishpeming.

The article, in part, follows: "Primarily a bridge carrier, the Ann Arbor is an essential link in the short all-rail route between Eastern Trunk Line, New England and Central Freight territories on the one hand, and Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Northwest Pacific Coast territories on the other. The road provides no passenger service and therefore its staff can devote all its attention and energy to the everyday but very essential tasks of moving freight expeditiously and of providing dependable service the year around.

"The Ann Arbor is an unusual railroad in that more than half—320 out of 613—of its route miles are over water, with service performed by car ferries steamers which carry the loaded freight cars on tracks in their holds.

"Yet, in spite of the predominance of its marine operations, it is every inch a railroad, operated by railroad standards. . . .

Operate Five Car Ferries

"Across-lake traffic is of greatest importance, with more than 65 per cent of the freight the road receives being handled on the car ferries. Second is the substantial amount of traffic moving between industrial centers in southern Michigan and connections in lower Michigan and at Toledo. . . .

"Marine operations might be termed the 'lifeline' of the Ann Arbor, for without the services of its fleet of five steel car ferries the railroad would soon wither. These ships ply Lake Michigan the year around on fixed schedules timed to fit the manifest freight train schedules of their western railroad connections. . . .

"The car ferries carry up to 30 freight cars, each, on four tracks, and are loaded and unloaded from the stern over a hinged apron. Once on the vessel, cars are held in place by specially designed gear. First, heavy chocks are clamped to the rails ahead of the tracks. In addition, screw jacks are placed at the four corners of each car, between the car body and a dead rail fastened to the car decks, to prevent rocking of cars at sea. This is a safeguard the vessel as well as its cargo of freight cars and their valuable contents. The movement of cars on to and off the vessels is a precision job, requiring judgment and care on the part of the switchmen and engineers, and is accomplished with remarkable gentleness.

Headquarters at Frankfort

"At Frankfort, headquarters of the Ann Arbor's Marine department which dispatches the car ferries, the ships generally move on a 'first-in-first-out' basis, with such variations as are necessitated by the traffic needs of the moment.

"Advance consists of trains are received at the boat yards where trains are broken up and cars classified for car ferry movement. Switching cars for ship cargoes is complicated. Cars must not only be classified as to route, but must all be arranged with consideration to gross weight, so that when a vessel's cargo is 'shoved aboard' it will split up on the four boat tracks with a proper weight distribution—keeping the vessel in 'trim' (i. e., on an even keel).

"In practice the boat yards work fast. They must, because ship time is very expensive, and schedules must be maintained. Manifest schedules allow only one hour between arrival of train and departure of ship. . . .

"The operating record of the car ferries is almost legendary in the Lake Michigan area. Although storms occasionally disrupt regular schedules, there are relatively few days on which no

One-Hitter For Boddy As Eskymos Pound Out 17-2 Win At Marquette

MARQUETTE—Southpaw Fred Boddy fed the Marquette Redmen a steady diet of strikes here yesterday as he pitched a one-hit, 17-2 Escanaba win over the home club.

Marquette's lone hit came in the fourth inning when center fielder Johnson poked a short fly over first base. That hit, combined with three walks, a hit batter and an Escanaba error, gave Marquette its 2 runs.

Boddy pegged 11 strikeouts at the Redmen, issued the three walks all in the fourth inning and hit one batter, also in the fourth. Otherwise he was the master all the way. The left-handed junior retired the Marquette batsmen in order in the second, third, fifth, sixth and seventh innings. In the third and seventh he put them down on strikeouts.

Coach Jim Rouman's Eskymos had a big day at the plate in win-

Bears Practice This Evening For Wilson

The Escanaba Bears will practice this evening at 6:30 at the city diamond, Manager Jack Beck announced today.

Workouts will be held each week throughout the season on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The Bears face Wilson there next Sunday in the Tri County league.

ning their 15th straight ball game. Boddy set the pace with three singles and a double in five trips.

Three For Three
Joe Larmay pounded three for three, including a triple, and Paul Gunderman and Paul Davidson

White Birch, Ev's Get Wins

Joe Rademacher turned in a repeat performance in softball circles last night, matching the feat he accomplished on the hardball diamond Sunday afternoon.

Rademacher drove a hit over the right fielder's head to give Phil & Ev's a 4-3 win over Power & Light. Tom Brayak and Reinhold Bittner formed the winning battery while Jack Courneene and Bob Corrievau pitched and Wally Larson caught for the losers.

White Birch, with Francis Lanco and Ron King pitching, beat Westby's 10-3. Ted Cavadeas and Myron Carlson worked for the losers with Bill Mulvaney catching. Lanco banged a homer for White Birch.

Commissioner Paul Vardigan announced that a meeting of National and Old Time softball managers will be held Thursday night at 8:30 at Memorial field. Both leagues will begin action soon.

Eddie Melvin, successful coach of St. Bonaventure's basketball team, was a former star with the Pittsburgh Ironmen in the original Basketball Association of America six years ago.

had two hits apiece to lead Escanaba to a 15-hit attack on three Marquette pitchers. Davidson's two hits were both three-baggers and Gunderman counted a triple.

Escanaba shelled starter Bruce Anderson in the fourth. He was replaced by Cook who needed help from Versailles in the seventh. All Escanaba players saw action in the game.

The Eskymos are idle until Saturday when they play host to the Negaunee Miners.

Powers Rally Nips Channing By 4 To 3

POWERS—The Powers Tigers ran their record to 5-2 in Little Seven conference play here yesterday by rallying in the seventh to nip Alpha 4-3.

Powers trailed 3-2 entering the last of the seventh. Bob Lawrence led off with a walk. Dave Lawrence singled and John Henderson walked to load the bases with none out.

Wally Perket knotted the score by singling to short left field to drive in Bob Lawrence. Billy Wells attempted to squeeze in Dave Lawrence but the play backfired and the runner was trapped between third and home. Alpha's catcher ended the ball game by making a wild peg to third, allowing Lawrence to score.

Henderson went the route for Powers, fanning 10 and walking three. Tony Stankewicz handled Alpha pitching and fanned nine, walked four and allowed five hits. Henderson was touched for four safeties.

Powers returns to action Friday afternoon at 3:15 with a home stand against Channing.

Broncos Top Trojans 4-3 In Eight Innings At Bark River Field

BARK RIVER — The Bark River Broncos worked a run across the plate in the last of the eighth inning here yesterday afternoon to slip a 4-3 loss to the St. Joseph Trojan baseball team.

Victory came to Bark River

when Jack Good singled and stole second. Billy Vincent, Bronco hurler, rapped a sharp ball to John Martinac on third base. Martinac bluffed and then whipped the ball to first base where Gary Guertin relayed it home with a low peg that failed to nip the flying Good who slid in with the winning run.

Coach Tom St. German started Pete Kutches, regular second

Charles Polich Counts 659 In ABC Tournament

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—None of the participants yesterday at the American Bowling Congress tournament could combine enough skill and luck to move up among the leaders at action wound up on the 59th day of the current meet. The classic ends June 14.

Leading the parade was a doubles tandem from La Crosse, Wis., Bob Wigdal and Albert Bricksen, who fired 1,242-35 sticks shy of tenth position. Wigdal banged out 642 on consistent games of 218, 213 and 211, while the latter fired an even 600 on 223, 187 and 190.

A 659 slam was tops in the singles, with Charles Polich, Caspian, Mich., notching the count on 210, 247 and 202. He finished second in last year's ABC tournament singles with 739.

Polich also gained a money spot with 1,840 in all events. However, the boss man over the nine game route for the day was Jack Piscopink, Detroit, who left the alleys with 1,847. He grouped a 580 team, 630 doubles and 637 singles series.

Second Win For Eskymo Netters

The Escanaba Eskymo tennis team posted its second win in three starts here Saturday by turning back the Iron Mountain High School netters 5-2.

Eskymo singles victories were turned in by Tom Fisher over Tom Polkinhorn 6-4, 7-5; Dick Peterson over Harold Larson 6-2, 6-1; and Dick Noon over Glen Edlund 6-2, 7-5. Duane Raffin of Iron Mountain beat Don Desilets 6-1, 6-1.

Escanaba doubles wins were notched by Noon and Peterson over Jerry Bianco-Joe Pesavento 6-3, 6-2; and Desilets-Fisher over Robert Cahodas-John Bastian 6-3, 1-6, 6-4. The Iron Mountain duo of Lane Hanson and Douglas Nord beat Jim Timms-Ted Sogard 0-6, 6-6, 10-8.

Escanaba entertains the Kingsford Flivver net squad Wednesday.

baseball, on the mound yesterday. In his first pitching performance Kutches was clipped for five hits, three of them in the sixth inning in which he was relieved by Bill Rodman.

Vincent handcuffed the Trojans with three hits in going the route for Coach Paul Wiinikainen. Kutches collected two of them, a triple and a single. Vincent also tripled and singled for Bark River and Allan Schoen added a three-bagger for the winners.

Dream Course

No Walking, Puffing Or Holes-In-One On Unique Golf Course

FLINT, Mich. — (AP) — You'll never make a hole-in-one on Robert Main's golf course.

You'll shoot away from the green—instead of toward it—most of the time on Main's golf course. Main designed his novel course here at Flint for the guy who doesn't like to puff up and down hills.

It's golf without walking. And golf without caddie fees.

Confused?

Here's how it works:

Like Driving Range
Main furnishes you with a bucket of balls and the clubs. You walk out of his clubhouse and in front of you stretches what looks like a driving range.

Only there's a big difference. At the near end of the "range" are nine greens lined up side by side. They're marked with numbered flags and surrounded by sand traps just like ordinary greens.

You do all your driving, approaching and pitching from tees located out on the range 40 feet from each green.

Still confused?

Here's what happens:

Driving—You walk to the tee for hole No. 1 and turn your back to the green. You drive out onto the range. If your drive passes a 175-yard marker your score reads one stroke. If it falls short or goes out of bounds your score reads two strokes.

Approaching—Your back is still turned to the green for the approach shot, made from a tee a few feet away from the driving tee. Your target this time is a pool of water about green size out on the range. If you hit the pool, your ball is considered on the green. If you miss you must still pitch to the green.

(Two pools are located on the range and these give a variety of approach distances—90, 110 and 145, depending on the hole you're playing.)

Putting—If your approach shot landed in the pool, you're entitled to place the ball on the green approximately 12 to 15 feet from the cup and putt out. But if you had to pitch onto the green, you play your putt from where the ball landed.

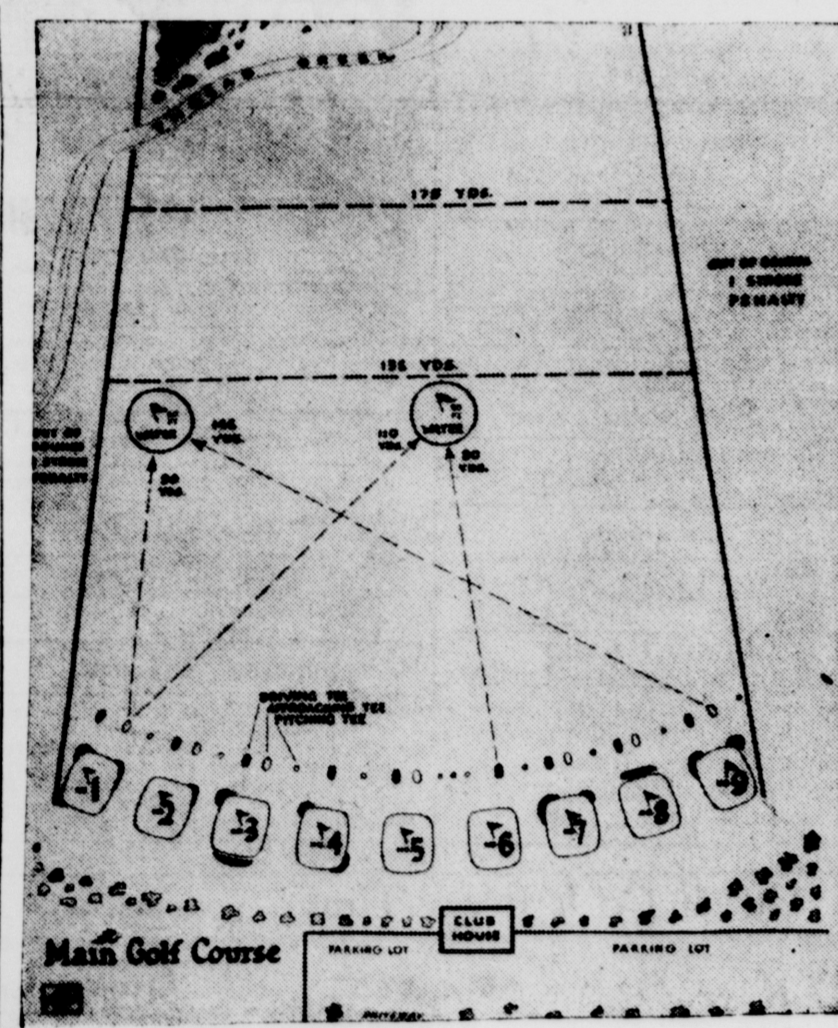

And now, if you're no longer confused, you move on to hole No. 2—right next door—and play that one in similar manner.

Main, a landscaper, said it took three years and $9,000 to construct the course. He plans lights for night playing.

A foursome can play the nine holes in one hour, said Main.

Alma College Wins MIAA Baseball Title

ALBION MICH.—(AP)—Without so much as being here, Alma college won the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association at large baseball championship of the Michigan Association at Albion yesterday. It happened because Hillsdale and Albion split a doubleheader.

If either Albion or Hillsdale had won both games it would have tied Alma, which has completed its season, with a 4-2 MIAA record. As it was, Albion and Hillsdale wound up in a tie for second with 3-3 loop records.

Hillsdale took the first game 13-3, with four homers, two of them by catcher Tom Walsh, counting heavily. Albion squeezed off a Hillsdale rally and took the second game 7-6.
Hope, with a 2-4 record finished behind Albion and Hillsdale in the league race. Kalamazoo and Adrian, the other MIAA members, didn't field baseball teams this year.

Chloroform was first developed in 1831.

Matthews Climbs Heavyweight Ladder With Win Over Layne

PORTLAND, Ore. — (AP)—Harry (Kid) Matthews cleared his first major heavyweight hurdle here last night. Matthews, 183½, Seattle, looked impressive in punching out a 10 round decision over Rex Layne, 198½, Lewiston, Utah.

Layne was the first heavyweight of reputation that Matthews had met.

His manager, Jack Hurley, said after the fight he hoped to sign Matthews for a match sometime in July with Rocky Marciano, the Brockton, Mass., belter who knocked out Joe Louis.

Matthews was just too classy and hit too hard for Layne, a primitive type mauler, who, nevertheless, holds a decision over heavyweight champion Joe Walcott.

Scored Knockdown

The sharp-hitting Seattle veteran scored the only knockdown of the fight in the second round.

Matthews had his foe in trouble several times again before the end but was content to box and counter-punch without rushing in for the kill. He apparently developed a healthy respect for Layne's punching power in the first round when the Utah man twice staggered him with lefts to the head.

In the fourth round, Matthews

Harry Matthews Rex Layne

caught Layne with two terrific rights. One landed on Layne's jaw with such force that it split his left eyelid. The other started the big fellow's mouth bleeding.

The Seattle fighter staggered

Layne again in the fifth with a one-two to the head.

Largest Crowd

He had Layne reeling again in the ninth under vicious counter punches but couldn't finish him. Layne, wary of Matthews' deadly counters, seldom worked close enough to his opponent to use his 15-pound weight advantage in effective infighting.

Layne appeared in excellent shape and his condition obviously saved him from other knockdowns or a knockout. However, he was unable to find the bobbing Matthews with many punches after his good first round showing.

A crowd of 11,000, the largest in Oregon boxing history, paid nearly $72,000, a record gate in the state, to see the fight.

Mitchell Takes Over Lead In American Loop Bat Race

NEW YORK — (AP)—A hot streak by Dale Mitchell of the Cleveland Indians, which saw him gain 20 points during the past week, moved the hard-hitting outfielder into the American League batting lead.

Mitchell, tied for fourth place last week, collected nine hits in 22 at bats to boost his average to .360.

Last week's leader, Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees, lost nine points and fell to third place, behind Boston's Dom DiMaggio, who has a .343 mark. Rizzuto is hitting .342.

Figures include yesterday's games.

Robinson Skids
Jackie Robinson, last week's leader in the National, also went into a tailspin, but unlike Rizzuto, the Brooklyn second baseman didn't lose his lead. In 24 at bats he connected safely only six times and his average skidded 43 points to .350.

Al Rosen of Cleveland and George Kell of Detroit are tied for sixth at .333. Rosen, currently sidelined with a pulled leg muscle, tops the league in homers (8) and in runs batted in (21).

Del Ennis of the Philadelphia Phils and Joe Adeock of the Cincinnati Reds pulled themselves into the thick of the National league battle and are challenging Jackie Robinson's supremacy.

Adcock Third

Ennis, holding down the second slot, picked up four points to bring his average to .345, five behind Robinson. Adeock, in third, went on a spree, going nine for 21, to send his average sailing 27 points to .341.

Frankie Baumholtz of the Chicago Cubs is fourth at .330 and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, last year's batting champ, has barged his way into the top ten for the first time this season, with a fifth-place mark of .327.

Musial increased his average 33 points by going nine for 19.

Completing the top ten are Luke Snider, Brooklyn, .317; Jack Merson, Pittsburgh; and Harry Lowrey, St. Louis, .316, and Whitey Lockman, New York, .314. Lowrey, runnerup last week, collected only two hits in 19 trips and saw his average drop 70 points.

Cites Need For Wills, Trusts

Citing hypothetical cases to emphasize the need for the making of wills and trusts, Atty. John J. Walsh of Marquette Monday told the Escanaba Rotary Club that counsel by attorneys, certified public accountants, and insurance representatives is helpful to those who want to see their wishes carried out for the benefit of their families.

Atty. Walsh, dean of the Marquette County Bar and commissioner at large for the Michigan State Bar, was introduced by Atty. James Fitzharris, Rotary Club program chairman.

Citing the case of the husband who died, leaving his widow and their six children with debts, Atty. Walsh said the eldest daughter worked to pay off the debts on the home and educate the younger children.

Knowledge Of Law

The mother had always said the house was to go to the eldest daughter, yet when she died without making a will her estate was divided among the six children. The eldest daughter, who was to have the home, had to move into a rented room.

Such things occur not because of injustice in the law but because people lack knowledge of the way out as provided by law. The eldest daughter could have received the house by will or as a gift, Atty. Walsh pointed out.

If death occurs without a will being made, the law provides that one-third of the estate goes to the widow and two-thirds to the children, which is sometimes unfair to the widow, he said.

Under the law and without a will, if there is no widow, the children share and share alike—but this does not provide for the possibility that some of the children may have died and their heirs still receive nothing, he added.

Joint Estate Hazards

Should there be no children and the husband die, his widow will receive one-half of the estate and one-half will go to his parents or parent, or if the parents are dead, to his brothers and sisters, of there is no will. This is often unfair to the widow who has assisted in the accumulation of an estate.

The holding of property jointly is not always best because of inheritance tax problems, Atty. Walsh said. "Be very careful before you jump blindly into the creation of joint estates," he warned.

Accountants are able to show how, under the law, money can be saved for an estate by legally avoiding incurring excessive inheritance and estate taxes, state and federal, Atty. Walsh advised. The larger the estate the higher the taxes, but accountants can often assist by advising on "judicious gifts," he added.

fit of children or for other purposes are handled in accordance with the directions given by the individual establishing the trust, and can be as flexible or as strict as desired, he continued. Such trusts can be established without probate court proceedings or through wills.

Since the law requires that estate taxes be paid to the federal government within 15 months, life insurance policies to cover such costs will assist in avoiding the forced sale of property in the estate, Atty. Walsh said.

In conclusion he cited the case of a widow who wanted to know whether her step-son, of whom she was very fond, would receive her late husband's estate if she died without making a will. She was advised that her step-son would receive nothing unless she willed it to him, and that otherwise the estate would go to her relatives.
